Speaker/Motivator

Janice Coleman has over 20 years of experience in the fast-paced realm of corporate America. Janice has been helping organizations, senior leaders, and entrepreneurs maximize their performance and achieve breakthrough business results.

Using a unique combination of entertainment and education, she engages audiences, delivers insights, and provides tools that support the needed change whether it's business growth, organizational transformation, change management, or improved communication and collaboration.

Her programs are well suited for the times that we are facing. Whether in the boardroom, courtroom, or on the production floor all people need the same motivation to meet the demands of an everchanging world. Janice Prepares People to Perform.

"As a business owner, I was able to relate to your experiences. In fact, I was watching and listening to the audience and you "hit the nail on the head" with the overall group. After we were finished in the room, I went back to my booth location and heard some attendees talk about their experience in your session. It was a great success."

— D. Haddock, Vice President Brandywine Corporate Development, Inc., Wilmington, DE

"I really did enjoy your presentation. Even last night some of your words rang through my mind as I was stressing over getting everything done that I needed to get done and helping my daughter with her homework. Thanks for your insight."

— J. McGlaughlin, Entrepreneur Women's Business Network of Delaware, Wilmington, DE
